GRAND DISPLAY OF PIANOS.

HERBERT & Co., respectfully invite attention to the unequalled assortment of Pianofortes now opened out for trial and selection, in their large Music Room on the upper floor of No. 2, Rampart Row.

The following list comprises only those arranged in their order down the middle of the room:—

No. 1. A BROADWOOD'S GRAND SQUARE, secured for the climate of Bombay, by Broadwood & Co., London. This Piano has just arrived, and is in the same state as when first packed in its case; its quality may be known from the fact that it is found in good tune and fit for immediate use, not requiring any attention or tuning after a long voyage. Price Rs. 900.

No. 2. A GERMAN PIANO of very excellent tone, and of strong manufacture, made of well-seasoned Mahogany, and standing on four legs with a set of patent Glass Insulators underneath, complete, with its case, tuning apparatus, strings, &c., Rs. 500.

No. 3. A ROSEWOOD SEVEN OCTAVE, Grand Square, upon the new sympathetic principle, the Bass end of the instrument being connected with the treble by a patented invention, which gives uniformity of tone and greatly increased vibration. The exterior of this Piano is highly ornamental. Rs. 800.

No. 4. AN ORDINARY GERMAN PIANO. One of very sweet tone, contains the usual improvements found in Instruments of this class, and is a good serviceable Piano. Rs. 450.

No. 5. A GERMAN PIANO similar to the above, but fitted with an Harmonium accompaniment, is in perfect accord with this novel attachment, and is well worthy of attention. Price for the whole, Rs. 700.

No. 6. A DOUBLE PIANOFORTE of the best Rosewood, playable in the usual way, and self-playing at the same time, so that its own music can be imitated or accompanied whilst playing—the music available for this Instrument exceeds the limits of an advertisement. A Catalogue is published from which selections may be made. Price of the Pianoforte alone, Rs. 2,500.

No. 7. AN OAKWOOD PIANOFORTE, with double apparatus similar to the above (No. 6) but of plainer finish and smaller. The metal works exposed to view on this Instrument are all Electro Silvered. The whole, with 50 pieces of self-performing Musical attachments, Rs. 1,500.

No. 8 and 9. BROADWOOD'S AND COLLARD'S Instruments, second hand—very good Pianos well worth an inspection, having been only two or three years in Bombay, and in excellent order. Open to an offer.

REGISTERED VICTORIA PATTERN, CONCAVE GLASS INSULATORS FOR PIANOFORTES.

The above beautifully constructed and novel Insulating Resonator is strongly recommended and adopted by all the leading Pianists of Europe; it answers the two-fold purpose of insulating the instrument from the non-conducting medium of the floor on which it is generally placed, and of preserving the Piano from the effects of damp.

Experience in its use has proved the advantage gained with regard to improved tone, and the injuries which are so constantly resulting to the Piano from the effects of the absorbent nature of the carpet or mat on which it stands, are effectually obviated.

The Insulators are of the richest quality of glass, and each single one has been tested to bear double the weight of a Grand Pianoforte.

Price of the Royal Victoria Glass Insulating Resonator.—The set of Four in Transparent Crystal, in rich light Amber Colour, in pure Opal (milk white) or in other colours, Rs. 12, cash.

SETS OF THREE IN THE SAME PROPORTION.

One of the first authorities in Europe has given it as his decided opinion that "The Royal Victoria Insulator is the only perfect invention of its kind; and in it are happily combined elegance of design, strength, and excellence of workmanship, with practical and acknowledged utility. It has deservedly met with the success that has attended its invention."

THE Bombay Gazette.

FRIDAY, MARCH 27, 1863.

SOME days ago we referred to the project of the Indian Tram-way Company, represented by Sir John Login who is at present amongst us for making a Tram-railway from Gogo to Ahmedabad.

The project we are glad to learn is making way. A local provisional Committee connected with the Company and composed of names very well known in Bombay has been formed, to promote the object in view, and application has been made to Government for a pecuniary grant to aid in carrying out a scheme, the accomplishment of which will certainly be attended with the most important consequences to the trade of the presidency. A grant-in-aid of the project would really be a true measure of Economy on the part of Government from the saving it would otherwise be enabled to effect in the present outlays on roads, which are always unsatisfactory when at their best—but when out of repair (which they generally are) are almost useless, and impracticable.

The line proposed, as we recently showed, is one of the most important that could be selected in the Bombay Presidency.

The length of it from the port of Gogo in the Gulf of Cambay, to Ahmedabad, the capital of Guzerat, via Limree and Verumgaum, is 150 miles. It traverses one of the richest of our Indian cotton fields, a district of country containing numerous towns, several of which are very important, with large populations. It will open up, at all seasons of the year, the district of Kattiawar which is of great extent and of great fertility; but which is almost entirely closed up during the monsoon. Its route via Limree and Verumgaum has been remarkably well selected for influencing the development of the entire resources of the country, and for securing the great bulk of the traffic of the whole district. At present the only means of communication along this route is a bullock track; and, of course, with only such means of conveyance, goods of all sorts are subject to loss by delays and deterioration.

The trade of the district is already great, and capable of a manifold increase. The value of the exports and imports of Gogo, Bhownuggur, and Dhollera, which will be almost wholly intercepted by the proposed Tram-railway, amounted in 1861-62 to £3,278,181: the exports were £1,192,456, and the imports £2,085,725. The tonnage of vessels entered at those ports outwards and inwards was 242,976 tons. Ahmedabad, where this line will meet the great trunk line of the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India Railway Company, contains a population of more than 200,000 souls, that is, double the population of Poona, and numbers amongst its inhabitants some of the wealthiest and most enterprising native merchants in India.

The trade of this city alone is equal to that of the three shipping ports above mentioned; and previous to the opening of the B. B. and C. I. Railway, of which Ahmedabad is the northern terminus, nine-tenths of this trade was connected with the districts to be traversed by the proposed Tram-railway. The Tram-railway will carry the traffic of the districts to the city: it will afford a means of export to the sea during the fair seasons, when the navigation is open; and it will be a very important feeder to the B. B. and C. I. Railway during the rainy season, when the navigation is closed and the country itself otherwise impassable. It will thus have abundant employment at all seasons. The passenger traffic will be a considerable source of income. Experience teaches that the line will be made use of generally by travellers; for of all Indian lines passengers furnish a very large proportion of the revenues. Capitalists need have no misgivings, then, as to the profitableness of such an investment as this proposed Tram-railway.

This line will afford very remarkable advantages to the public. The following figures will show the extent of these advantages. From Ahmedabad to Verumgaum is a distance of 36½ miles. By present means of conveyance, during the fair season, the hire of a two-bullock cart, carrying 800 lbs., is Rs. 4-0-8; and the time occupied in transit is three days. During the rains the charge is 50 per cent. above fair season rates, even if conveyance is obtainable at all; and the time of transit cannot be reckoned upon, as the country is almost impracticable for carts. In Kattyawar, carts dismantle during the rainy season. By the proposed Tram-railway, at all seasons of the year, the charge for 800 lbs., for the same distance, will be 13 annas; and the time of transit under three hours by locomotive, and under fourteen hours by bullock power. From Ahmedabad to Bhownuggur is a distance of 137 miles. The hire of a two-bullock cart between the two places during the fair season is Rs. 15-2 annas; and the time of transit is eight and a half days. By the proposed Tram-railway the charge for 800 lbs. for the same distance will be Rs. 3-10 ans. and the time of transit will be under thirteen hours by locomotive, and under fifty-four hours by bullock power.

That the Tram-railway will be taken advantage of by the traders of the district, there can be no doubt. His Highness the Guicowar has constructed a Tramway of two feet six inches guage from Meagaum to Dhubboie, a distance of 20 miles; on which loads of six tons, exclusive of the waggons, are conveyed by single pairs of bullocks with greater ease and at greater speed than they can now convey half a ton over any Government road in the district.

During the last rains, when a small part of the Tramway had been laid, three rupees per bale were offered and given for the conveyance of cotton for a distance of eight miles—its transport being otherwise impossible at the time, from the state of the roads in the country. This clearly shews that the proposed Tram-railway will be appreciated by the people, and taken advantage of by them for traffic. The advantages it will offer to them will be very great. The transport of their goods rapidly and without deterioration will not cost them one-fourth of the money that they now pay for the same distance; and the transit, if by locomotive, will be reduced from a fifteenth to a twenty-fifth part of the time now occupied; or if by bullock power, from a fourth to a fifth of the time.

With these advantages in view to the state and to the public. It is to be hoped Government can have little hesitation in granting such a subsidy, as we believe the Company will be able, to make out a fair and reasonable claim in the interests of the public, to receive.

IN our issue of the 9th instant we made a complaint in the interests of the public, to the effect that when the China Mail arrived after sunset we were unable to obtain from the post office our papers before the next morning; the effect of this arrangement being a total suppression so far as the public are concerned of all the intelligence brought by the mail, next in importance to the Overland Mail, for nearly thirty hours after the boxes have been deposited at the Post Office.

Though the grievance we complained of rests as it did, and still remains unredressed, we owe it to the Bombay post office to say that it is entirely blameless in the matter. We readily acknowledge that the Postmaster General of Bombay, the Postmaster, and all their subordinates have been uniformly courteous and obliging and most desirous of serving the press at all times for the convenience of the public. We know very well that it was formerly the custom of the Bombay Post Office to open the China Mail boxes whatever hour they were received, and submit the papers, &c. for the press to be delivered when applied for, even if the time was midnight.

We now find, however, that the batta for extra work done by the post office clerks on such occasions, and surely very well earned, having been disallowed, by the Director General more than four years ago, the former practice of opening the China mail boxes at any hour has been discontinued.

The fee charged on late letters used to be distributed amongst the clerks as batta for extra work. This practice, probably for good reasons was discontinued, but compensation ought to have been given to the clerks in some other way, when they are required to do extra duty.

It appears that in April 1858, the then Postmaster of Bombay, Mr. Blowers, submitted a contingent bill for rupees 95-11-4 for extra work performed beyond office hours on the arrival of the China mails from June 1857 to February 1858.

The bill was disallowed by the then Civil Auditor, Mr. Corfield, who had been an old Postmaster himself, very fussy certainly, and very inefficient, but who had sufficient knowledge to have made him more considerate of the claims of the poor clerks. The Bombay post office, appealed to the Director General and in the statement of the case for his consideration, the Postmaster very properly insisted on the importance that was attached to the China mail here, and the claim the public had to receive the intelligence brought by it as early as possible. Mr. Grey of the Bengal Civil Service was Director, or rather Officiating Director General at the time, and without giving himself apparently the smallest trouble to weigh and consider the matters [illegible] before him, curtly replied to the effect, that he thought the Civil Auditor was right in his objection to pass the bill for gratuity to the clerks connected with the China mails, satisfying himself with the example of Calcutta, where, he said "if the China mail arrives after five o'clock P.M. it is not opened until the following morning!"

If the Calcutta press and the Ditchers generally are so supine as to rest contented with this truly Oriental style of things, that is no reason in the least why we in Bombay should do so: The Bombay Trade with China is of great magnitude and importance, and the political condition of China has for years excited as deep interest here as in England.

The arrival of the China mail is always eagerly looked forward to, and now that there is a near prospect of Bombay becoming the seat of the General Post Office for India, as it certainly is daily acquiring a good title to be; we trust every effort will be made on the part of the Post Office and the Local Government, to have all arrangements for the delivery of China and other foreign mails, at whatever hour they may arrive, made as promptly as possible.

NEWS-LETTER.

POONA, 25th March 1863.

WE have most extraordinary weather here, storms of thunder and lightning, and rain which people designate the mangoe showers, or the past Hoolie showers, but I think it is unusual to have so much thunder and lightning with the mangoe showers, and unusual too to have them last so long. These storms have continued for more than a week, but fortunately they furnish us with a topic of conversation when there is not much else stirring, and they keep off the hot weather. When they have come to an end the hot winds will probably set in.

A good many of the big-wigs have gone to the Hills, but Poona is still by no means empty, for the regimental officers, and other such small fry, can scarcely afford to go, or to send their families thither. Grain of all kinds and all sorts of necessaries are very dear now, and some of the people must find it very difficult to live, or as they would express it to get their bellies filled. I rather wonder they do not take the law into their own hands, and make a foray on the grain shops, as they probably would have done under the native raj, for they have a notion, right or wrong, that the corn is being kept up. The high prices are very trying to them, and to a good many of us also.

I see that some of the Fusilier officers are assisting Miss Grattan in her performances at the Grant Road Theatre, I should think their joint efforts must be well worth witnessing for some of them are very good players and the greatest want in our Indian theatres is to have actresses for the impersonation of the female characters.

The Bombay Municipal Commissioners have been consulting Captain Close, the Executive Engineer of Poona and Kirkee, as to the merits and inconveniences of dry conservancy; I do not know what he may have said in reply, but I should think burning the rubbish, far enough away from the town, would generally be the best plan in an Indian climate. There are drains in the city of Poona, and they are said to be in a very unpleasant state now, and I believe this is not unfrequently the case; but I think the greater part of the cantonment is managed on the dry conservancy principle, by the help of that authorised individual, the Indian sweeper.

The Poonaites are doing something for posterity in the way of planting trees. Trees are being planted on both sides of most of the roads in camp, and when grown up will form a pleasant shade; but sufficient precaution is not taken to render the work free from danger. It appears to be necessary to dig a hole some four or five feet deep, and of nearly as great a diameter, and to fill it in with good earth to give the young tree a fair chance. I have seen some of these dangerous places left open as traps for several days and nights, and both pedestrians and mounted wayfarers might easily be ingulfed in them. I am glad to say I have not heard of any recent accidents, but a poor artillery-man was killed a year or two ago by his horse getting into one of these places near the Church. With this sad warning do you not think they might manage to bring the mould to the place beforehand, and then get the hole made and filled up without delay.

The thunder began at twelve o'clock to-day, and it looks cloudy and like rain, but the smartest shower we have yet had was on Sunday afternoon, just in time to prevent people from going to Church. The rain came down then with a vengeance, washing the roads, and flooding the gutters as it does sometimes in a thunder-storm at home. There is some prospect of our having a similar deluge this evening.

KURRACHEE, 18th March 1863.

THE all-absorbing topic of the day is the dissolution of the Bank of Kurrachee, and the death, by poison, of its late revered Manager, Mr. George Plunkett. The only Banking Institution of this City, one projected and supported by the local residents, will soon be numbered with the things oer'past: its career was promising but brief: its end disastrous to not a few who had unlimited faith in its stability. There is no doubt, if one may judge from the startling revelations made at the recent meetings of the shareholders: that gross mismanagement in the affairs of the Bank prevailed; and it is to the great carelessness and indifference exhibited by some of the Directors, who were in duty bound to protect the interests of the shareholders and the character and standing of the Institution itself, that we must attribute its sudden downfall. Had even an ordinary supervision been from the very first exercised the sad results that are deplored now, would not have followed. The accounts of the Bank were all at once found to be in a state of confusion, and if this was known to some of the Directors, they rather unaccountably kept the information from their colleagues in the Directory. Subsequently, it was discovered that the Cash Books of the Bank had mysteriously disappeared; information of the robbery was lodged before the Deputy Magistrate; Mr. Plunkett was called upon for an explanation, as to his complicity in the affair, which be tendered, and as far as he was concerned, he was honourably acquitted by the Court. But the day following the magisterial enquiry, a meeting of the Bank's shareholders was held, and while the august assembly were consulting as to the steps to be taken for the recovery of the missing cash books, they received the startling intelligence that Mr. Plunkett had committed suicide. Some of the members concluded immediately that the deceased was guilty of all the charges they had brought against him out of malevolence. But the depositions of the witnesses at the Inquest held over the body of Mr. Plunkett, went to show that he put an end to his life not on account of the recent awful disclosures regarding the affairs of the Bank, but owing to his recent losses in the farm of some Pearl fisheries. He had to meet an engagement on the day he was called into court, and for this purpose he was doing his best to secure a sum of 8000 Rupees: but failing in his attempt, he, in a moment of great agony and despair, terminated his existence, by taking the fatal draught. Had he resisted doing so, there is no doubt, from what has now transpired, that he would have surmounted all his pecuniary difficulties with the help of his friends, but his mind was too sensitive, and he could not bear to outlive the malicious reports of his enemies. Indiscree he was but not guilty. So much about the unfortunate Bank and its late lamented Manager, Mr. Plunkett.

The Sindian has issued a supplement to-day, containing a letter from Mr. Giles the Merchant at whose house Mr. Plunkett died, replying to some observations made by Mr. Passmore, one of the Bank's Directors, at a recent meeting of the shareholders. Mr. Passmore is now in Bombay, and Mr. Giles has published his letter in a supplement to allow of its reaching his detractor before his departure from Bombay for Europe. The mysteries of the Bank are not yet solved thoroughly, and every day we hear of something either new or extraordinary.

The officers of the 100th Regiment gave a Ball and Supper a few evenings ago in honour of the Major General Commanding the Division, who is under orders to proceed to Mhow to take charge of the Division there in place of Major General Farrel proceeding to Europe. It has not transpired as yet who is to be General Green's successor in Sind, but general Hodgson's name is mentioned.—

The Sindian informs its readers that the most serious collision which has as yet taken place on the Sind line, occurred a little more than a quarter of a mile this side of the station of Kotree early last Sunday morning. An engine from Kotree was shunting on the line and had stopped at the first distance post, when the Kurrachee night baggage train came in and ran directly into it. The result was considerable injury to the engines, the breaking up of five or six waggons, and the infliction of rather heavy loss upon the Company. Fortunately the hands escaped without a scratch. No blame attaches anywhere, unless it be to the absence of a distance post or second danger signal at a proper interval this side of the first one. I have no doubt Mr. McNeil, the Traffic Manajer, will remedy this omission.

It is in contemplation to remove the Horse lines of the Artillery from their present position to the plain in rear of the Arsenal, for which purpose wooden pegs have been placed to mark the proposed lines. The proposal for this change emanates from Major General Green, C. B., Commanding Sind Division, but the officers whom he has consulted in the matter, have strongly protested against the carrying out of the measure on sanitary grounds. The General, however, has seen no reason to defer to their opinions, as the Horse Lines in Sir Charles Napier's time were situated quite near the Barracks, and did not in the least interfere with the health of the men quartered there at the time. Instead of being prejudicial to the health of the men, we should say the proximity of the lines would be quite the reverse.

Below, I give a catalogue of the crimes and casualties which have recently occurred in the Province, and as they are reported by the Commandant of the Sind Police:—On the 15th ultimo, a boy died of hydrophobia at Moolla Kattear, near Mahomed Khan's Tanda. A man afflicted with asthma and cough died suddenly in the jungle near Mahdadpoor, on the 16th, while herding his cattle. A woman died from the bite of a snake in Baga ke Gote on the 14th. A man aged 32 years met with his death in the Sakra Talooka, on the 9th by being crushed in a machine for making sugar. In Nowshera on the 16th a boy was tossed in the air by a cow and broke his neck in falling to the ground. The annual fair of Lall Shah Baz, at Sehwan, passed off without any disturbance, although nearly 20,000 persons attended it. The largest Fair in Sind is held in this District. At Buddeena on the 12th February, a prisoner named Alloo effected his escape from the custody of Silladar Pudun Sing and Bargeer Sowar Wullee Ram. A man died at Nowshera recently from injuries received from the falling in of some earth while he was busy excavating a well; and on the 10th ultimo, a traveller was killed at Fuzull-ke-Tanda by a wall falling upon him. An atrocious murder was committed recently in Roree, Upper Sind, and the Police Digests states that the brother of the murdered Mahometan priest and two other men, have been arrested on suspicion of being the assassins. No satisfactory information, however, has as yet been obtained as to their guilt.—An usually large number of deaths by fire in various parts of the Province, have occurred during the month of February. Two men subject to epilepsy fell in the fire while labouring under attacks of that frightful disease. One, a resident of Mahomed-ke-Gote in the Mugrebee Talooka, aged 25 years was so severely burnt that he died on the 11th; the other is a foreigner named Khoodabux, whose case is reported by the Thannadar of Muttaree in the Hydrabad Collectorate. The same officer further states that a little girl, four years old, was accidentally burnt to death. An infant of five months lost its life in a fire reported from the interior. And lastly, a woman was burnt to death accidentally in the Dwaba on the 9th. The statistics relating to thieving are for Kurrachee, one week ending 16th February; Hydrabad, 3 weeks ending 23rd idem; and Shikarpoor, 2 weeks ending the 20th:—number of thefts reported, 260; amount of property said to have been stolen, Rs. 8,451-5-9; number of offenders apprehended, 302; value of property actually recovered, Rs. 4,462-2-11. For the corresponding periods the police served the following: Kurrachee, 6 warrants and 26 summonses; Hydrabad, 36 warrants, 192 summonses; and Shikarpoor, 58 warrants and 5 summonses.

THE health of the town has considerably declined during the past week, probably consequent upon the nearer approach of the hot season when epidemics are very common. Fever is on the wane, and deaths are fewer than they have been for some months past. Cholera seem to be gradually extending. Small-pox is becoming more prevalent, while measles is slightly on the increase. From other diseases the casualties are fewer and as usual.

The following is a classified table of the casualties:—

CORONER'S INQUESTS.

ACCIDENT FROM QUARRY BLASTING.—An Inquest was held on Wednesday last, at Supari Baug, Mahim road, touching the death of one Tukaram Ladu. From the evidence of one Mulavi Kondajee employed at present as a mason on the quarry of one Atmaram Narrayen, which adjoins that of Abu Baker, it appeared that at about nine A. M. of Tuesday last, before blasting the rock of Abu Baker's quarry, a warning was given to the sourrounding people, in consequence of which, witness and the deceased went into the hut, which stands at about forty paces from the rock that was blasted, a piece of stone was thrown out which came right into the hut through the cadjans and struck the deceased on the right hand. Witness was standing near the deceased. He was not hurt. As soon as the deceased was struck he became insensible, and was immediately afterwards taken home. The deceased died on the 25th instant.

VERDICT.—"The deceased died of injuries accidentally caused by a piece of rock which was blasted from a quarry."

FOUND DROWNED.—Another Inquest was held on Wednesday last, at Churney road, Girgaum, to enquire into the circumstances of the death of one Balu Vitoo. From the evidence of Mahadu Balu, the son of the deceased, it appeared, that at about ten o'clock A.M. of Wednesday last, the deceased came home excessively drunk. Witness was then inside the house. After remaining for a quarter of an hour or so, deceased left to go out. Witness did not ask him where he was going. About one o'clock in the afternoon, in consequence of information he received from a police havildar, he went to the beach behind Thackoordwar and found the deceased body lying dead. The deceased was always in the habit of drinking, and sometimes used to go to a sea-shore for the purpose of bringing oysters.

VERDICT.—"The deceased who was addicted to intoxication, was found drowned on the sea-shore."

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Another Inquest was held yesterday by the Coroner, Dr. Reid, at the Morgue Kamateepoora, touching the death of a Hindoo, name Luckmichund Lelladhur. It appeared from the evidence of one Devji, that the deceased used to come to his place at Bhooleshwur for the purpose of smoking tobacco and ganja. He used also to drink liquor. At about half-past three o'clock P. M. of the 25th instant, the deceased came to his place and after bathing in the Bhooleshwur tank, smoked tobacco, and slept on a bench. About five o'clock P. M., the deceased fell from the bench on the stone pavement with his legs up and head down. Witness with the assistance of three persons lifted up the deceased. He was severely injured on the face and blood was issuing from injuries. He was then quite insensible. Immediately afterwards information was given to the police. The deceased was taken to hospital where he died on Wednesday at about seven P.M.

The above evidence was corroborated by the testimony of three other persons.

VERDICT.—"The deceased died of injuries sustained by falling while asleep from a bench against the stone pavement in the Bhooleshwur temple."

FORT POLICE OFFICE.—26TH MARCH 1863.

(BEFORE N. W. OLIVER, ESQ.)

JEWELLERY.—Babajee Soma, and Mahadoo Bapoo, were brought up charged with stealing silver anklets, &c., of the aggregate value of nine hundred and twenty-two rupees, the property of one Radha woman, on Tuesday last.

Radha woman, on being sworn, stated, I am a courtezan and reside at Kombar Tookra in the house of a courtezan named Sadoo. I know the two prisoners, they are Sadoo's servants. Last Monday night about twelve o'clock I took all these jewels off my person in order to give them to Sadoo to keep as usual. She desired me to give them to Babajee, the first prisoner, to keep. I did so, and then went to sleep. The following morning about five or half-past five o'clock, I awoke and found two of the windows of the dewan-khana open, and the box in which my ornaments were usually kept was open on the landing place, and the ornaments missing. Both the prisoners were there. The first prisoner Babajee was sleeping. I cried out and called a policeman. The first prisoner wanted to go down, but I would not let him. The policeman came and searched the premises, and found all my ornaments except two, in different parts of the cookroom yesterday morning. The second prisoner pointed them out to the police. This morning the policeman went up into the loft with the two prisoners and brought down the two missing ornaments —these two. These are all mine, the same mentioned in the list and the same that were stolen. They are of the aggregate value of nine hundred and twenty-two rupees.

The Magistrate adjourned the further investigation of this case until this day, (Friday).

THEFT.—Abboo Issa was charged with stealing five rupees in cash, the property of Alla Allana, on Tuesday last.

From the evidence of the prosecutor it appeared, that at about half-past ten o'clock P. M. of the 23rd instant, he went to sleep in the open verandah of his house situated in Memonwarra. At that time, prosecutor had five rupees in the pocket of his angarakha which was on his person. About eleven o'clock of the same day, a sepoy roused him. Witness saw the prisoner in his custody. He examined his pocket and found it torn, and the rupees gone from it. The sepoy took five rupees from the prisoner's hand.

Cross-examined.—The prisoner did not give prosecutor the five rupees to take care of.

Poollajee Babajee, a police peon stated, the way in which the prisoner was found with five rupees in his hand.

Prisoner stated in defence, that the rupees were his. The sepoy took them from the prosecutor's pocket.

The charge was distinctly proved against the prisoner and was sentenced to be imprisoned for two months in the Common Jail with hard labour.

STEALING A SILVER CHAIN.—Narayen Dugroo was charged with stealing one silver chain, of the value of seven rupees, the property of Arjoon Madoo, on Tuesday last.

From the evidence of the prosecutor, a gardener, it appeared, that on Monday last, at about eight P.M., the prisoner came to his house and said that he was starving. Prosecutor gave him food as he knew him by sight. On the same day prisoner, witness and his children slept in the verandah. The following morning about five o'clock, he woke up, and told the prisoner to go and work. The chain was worn by one of prosecutor's children. Prosecutor went out for a short time and on his return found the prisoner gone out. He also missed the chain. On Tuesday at about twelve o'clock a sepoy brought the prisoner to his house with the chain.

The Magistrate convicted the prisoner, and sentenced him to be imprisoned for six months with hard labour in the House of Correction.

LAW.

HIGH COURT.—CROWN SIDE.

FIRST CRIMINAL SESSIONS OF 1863.

Eighth Day, Thursday, 26th March 1863.

(BEFORE THE HONORABLE SIR J. ARNOULD, KT.)

His LORDSHIP having taken his seat on the bench precisely at ten o'clock, the following gentlemen were empaunelled to serve on the MORNING JURY.

MR. W. BULLOCK,—Foreman.

Messrs. T. Wood; W. Brown; R. Morgan; M. Young; J. B. Humboldt; D. A. Potter; G. Bease; J. Borges; Manockjee Framjee; Narayen Morojee; and Mahomed Ally Chorgay.

CRIMINAL BREACH OF TRUST.—Henry Plunkedd Gratton, (No. 5 of the calendar), was indicted for criminal breach of trust and cheating.

Mr. Cooper, appeared for the prosecution.

Mr. Barton, defended the prisoner.

Mr. Cooper stated the case, and called the following witness.

Robert Small examined by Mr. Cooper said,—I am in the employ of Messrs. Treacher & Co. The gun is the property of Messrs. Treacher & Co. He came in about a bungalow hired by Miss Gratton. He had had a bungalow hired for her. He then asked me to lend him the gun. He also borrowed a flask and shot belt from Mr. Budgett. He promised to return it on Monday. He said he wanted to shoot at Landy. I let him have it. He never returned the gun. I was requested to take out a warrant against him. I went to the bungalow on the Monday and all was gone. I saw no luggage. I then applied to Mr. Campbell for a warrant and gave him a written deposition.

By Mr. Barton.—The auction department is on the side of the drug department. I bought the gun for Treacher & Co. and gave Rs. 65 for it. He may have said "Small, lend me a gun." I said you must promise me, if I lend the gun that you won't shoot yourself. I never said I could not lend it. I havelent himself several things before, saddles and revolvers and he returned them. I lent one saddle, Mr. Budgett another. The warrant was issued about two o'clock on Monday. He had a limited account with Treacher and Co. to the amount of Rs. 50. We secured some tickets. I lent him Rs. 10 once and I paid it out of the money received for the tickets. We often do this. He had always paid what he had borrowed and we issued the warrant before the days shooting was out. He owes an account to Treacher and Co. A bowie knife was lent one evening of performance to Mr. Gratton. He brought it back and after took it to Kalandee with him. No credit has been given in the auction room since I have been there now about eighteen months. We had not over Rs. 40 to his shop account when he took the gun.

His Lordship at this stage of the proceedings said it appeared to him a very weak case.

Koondee Muil examined by Mr. Cooper, stated, he was a merchant at Hydrabad. On the 3rd of November the prisoner came to him there about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He wished to procure a camel, and requested him to show him where the muccadum of the camels, resided. He afterwards showed the witness the gunpowder and shot flask for which he offered him thirty rupees; the money was paid and witness took the gun, with a receipt for the money. Witness cannot read English but knows figures by sight. He said he had brought the gun from Bombay.

Robert Small examined by Mr. Barton, said, he might have bought powder when he took the gun.

Another witness was called, who deposed, that the gun was sold for thirty rupees, to whose evidence, however, Mr. Barton made objection, as in the case of the former witness, he not understanding a word of English and the prisoner being equally deficient in his knowledge of Hindoostanee. Mr. Barton commented on the absence of any one from the firm as witnesses of the sale. A medical certificate was put in an account of Mr. Budgett's absence.

J. DeSilva, the keeper of the Travellers' bungalow at Kurrachee, stated, that he was at the bungalow the day he left; he did not state when he would leave Kurrachee but promised to pay his bill on Monday.

Mr. Barton addressed the Court for the defence and said, his client had been four montns incarcerated and was now sent down here on a charge under the new penal code, which defines so closely this offence between a debt and cheating which might become a tyranny instead of a good. He begged the jury to dispossess their minds of anything they had heard about the prisoner. He referred to a remark called down from the Judge himself. The prisoners were not allowed to keep themselves in the jail, had added to the sufferings occasioned in the prosecution, and this fact was communicated by the Marshal of the Jail himself to the learned counsel. Great stress should be laid upon the circumstance that a balance was in the hands of Treacher & Co. The case was one of extreme oppression and there was no proof at all to substantiate the charge. The learned counsel referred to the reports which were circulated against the prisioner and declared that the intention of the prisoner was never to steal the gun, and called the attention of the jury to the fact of the warrant against the prisoner having been taken out on the day it was. The case had not been properly sent down. All the evidence for the prisoner had been kept back and called upon the jury to acquit him.

His Lordship in summing up said, that the jury need only look to the first count of the indictment. It was perhaps not necessary under these circumstances to prove that a criminal breach was intended. The case was very lightly set down. It seemed incredible to his Lordship that he contemplated the offence, and it was very hard for the prisoner that Mr. Budgett was not present, which might have elicited much in favor of the prisoner. Small had decidedly done wrong in lending the gun. It was for the jury to consider whether in selling the gun at Hydrabad it was without the intention of getting it back again. In reviewing the evidence of Small it appeared that he was acting as the prisoner's agent. His Lordship commented on the circumstance of the prisoner having borrowed this money and was then about to proceed to Sukkur, without any apparent object in view, and that it appeared too that he was not sober if the jury were satisfied that the gun was to be returned on the Monday it would then be against the prisoner, but if they had any reasonable doubt in his favor, he must be given the benefit of it.

The jury after an absence of about three hours and a quarter, informed his Lordship that they were unable to give an unanimous verdict.

His Lordship directed the jury to retire again, but having returned the answer after another consultation, that they were still not agreed in their verdict, they were discharged.

Mr. Barton then applied for the discharge of the prisoner, and stated that the prisoner had already undergone nearly five months imprisonment.

His Lordship said, if there were no opposition this could be done, and upon Mr. Cooper's motion for a new trial, advised him to communicate with the prosecutor upon the matter, before the case was proceeded with.

Mr. Cooper having intimated that Messrs. Treacher & Co. had abandoned the prosecution, under existing circumstances. His Lordship therefore ordered the prisoner to be dicharged by proclamation—expressing himself at the same time to the effect, that the case against the prisoner was, in his opinion, a very light case indeed.

AFTERNOON JURY.

MR. P. GRANT,—Foreman.

Messrs. C. White, C. Forrest, W. Boyd, C. McKennally, M. W. Wynne, J. Thompson, J. DeVieros J. L. Carter, Shapoorjee Ardaseer, R. R. Bulmore, and Hiram Lawless.

ASSAULT.—Pallonjee Rustomjee, Nowrojee Rustomjee, Byramjee Heerjeebhoy, and Sorabjee Pestonjee, were arraigned on the charge of using criminal force and assaulting one Framjee Bomanjee.

Mr. Barton, appeared for the prosecution.

Mr. Bayley, for the first prisoner, and Mr. Reid, for the second prisoner.

Mr. Barton said, he had a very few observations to make and the case was a very simple one. These men belonged to a faction of which the prosecutor was a member, but who now bad seceded from them.

The prosecutor, Framjee Bomanjee, was proceeding in a buggy, when he was arrested by the first prisoner, and the fourth prisoner then dragged him out of the buggy struck him and knocked him down, when by mistake in the mellee the first prisoner got a severe beating by his own party.

Framjee Bomanjee, the prosecutor, examined by Mr. Barton stated, that he knew the prisoners. On the 23rd June last, about nine or a quarter-past he got into a buggy in the Duncan road in order to go to Dhobee Talao. On the way he had to go by way of the Cheras Bazar, he saw all the prisoners. Pallonjee, the first prisoner, called to the driver to stop and said, "Fulloo" meaning prosecutor, "come down" which he refused to do. He then seized the reins and got up into the buggy and on his pulling the witness obliged him to descend. The fourth prisoner then struck witness with a stick, after that he was struck by Byramjee, the third prisoner, and then Nowrojee, and the first prisoner threw him down and fell upon him as they were beating him. Pallonjee called out who he was, and they desisted. Pallonjee then got up and witness cried out for the sepoy who were found at the end of the street near where the assault occurred. Pallonjee tried to take the prisoners staff from him and as the sepoy detained him, the prisoner struck him. Then, with the staff, he assaulted the prosecutor beating his head and covering it and his cap with blood. All the prisoners were present. Prosecutor and the prisoners have always been at enmity. The first prisoners' father was tried for assaulting him before, at the last Sessions in 1861.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bayley.—Prosecutor once kept a clothes shop but now supplies liquor. He was fined forty rupees on one occasion for an assault and another occasion one hundred rupees, when N[illegible]wanjee was acquitted. Nusserwanjee was [illegible] those accused at the period above alluded to. [illegible] men with the police havildar Abdel Kader [illegible] tried for attempt to murder him and he then gave evidence against him. He remembered the havildar was acquitted before the case went to the jury, and all the rest were acquitted after. He went on business on the night in question. The place where the assault took place was about two or three hundred paces from the Money School, and about ten or fifteen paces from the police station. Witness would swear that he never struck any of the prisoners, and was not a spy of Government, and it was incorrect to suppose he was employed to look after these people. The assault occurred in June and all the evidence of the prosecution was collected in the month of August last.

By Dr. Reid.—The second prisoner is a buggy driver, and his stable is a good distance from the place of the assault. The second prisoner had no stick.

Joseph Anderson, the Apothecary of the Sir Jamsetjee Jejeebhoy hospital deposed, that the prosecutor was brought in an excited state to the hospital, on the 22nd June. His nose was covered with blood, on examination there appeared two contused wounds on the head, one on the top of about two inches long, the other not quite so large. He was discharged at his own request eight days after. First prisoner was brought the following day at two o'clock. This man had several abrasions, which might have been caused by his falling on the ground.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bayley.—The prosecutor's wounds were worse than those of the prisoner. He had a contused scalp as well as the prosecutor. The wounds seemed to have been caused by the blow of a stick. The prosecutor was very excited when admitted, and smelt strongly of liquor.

Abdool Hoosein, the buggy driver, No. 562, examined by Mr. Barton, deposed, he knew the prosecutor, and witnessed the affair before alluded to. When they came to the Cheraz Bazar Pallonjee was there, and seized his horse. This witness corroborated the prosecutor's evidence as to the assault.

Cross-examined by Mr. Bayley. Sorabjee came up and struck the prosecutor when Pallonjee had hold of him.

By Dr. Reid.—Witness was at one time in the second prisoners service and left him of his own accord and purchased a buggy of his own. There were no words between them.

Appoo Cannoo, a police constable said, he saw the prosecutor on the night in question, and the buggy was surrounded by a crowd he also saw Pallonjee strike him with his fist. The second prisoner is brother of Pallonjee. Witness called the sepoy and saw Pallonjee taking the staff from him, with which he struck prosecutor. The third and fourth prisoners were there. Pallonjee struck Framjee the first blow.

Police sepoy, No. 568 deposed, that he heard an outcry on the night in question, when he arrived at the Cheraz Bazar, he saw the first prisoner striking prosecutor with his fist. Pallonjee seized his staff and struck Framjee on the head with it. Sorabjee was there too. Witness saw the two sticks in the hands of two of the prisoners. The fourth prisoner had one and the third prisoner had the other. Witness saw no one acting in concert with, or on the part of Framjee.

Byramjee Eduljee deposed, that Pallonjee told the buggywalla to stop and ordered the prosecutor to descend seizing him by his dress and forcibly dragging him out of it. He and the other three prisoners then began to assault him. He saw all the prisoners there. The prosecutor and Framjee were struggling and fell. Pallonjee uppermost. The third and fourth were beating him with sticks when Pallonjee was struck, he said "I am Pallonjee."

Syed Jaffa, subedar of police stated, he saw the three first prisoners in the custody of Acbar Khan on the night in question. The other prisoner was apprehended the same evening, and witness observed no bruises on him. There was no blood or bruises in the second prisoner, the third was bleeding a little.

John Bell deposed, that he was in charge of the Dhobee Talao division of police when the prisoner was given into custody, and received the sticks used in this assault. The first prisoner refused to go with the subedar and witness then got in the buggy. The second prisoner was very obstropulous and I had to give him a rap on the head.

Mr. Bayley then addressed the Court on behalf of the first prisoner. He commented at some length upon the evidence of the prosecution, which he said was a most perfectly trumped up affair, and he should be able to prove this upon the calling of equally, if not more respectable witnesses than those examined by the prosecution. He dwelt on the improbability of his client being the aggressor, who was in reality, he said, only acting in his own defence, against the prosecutor, whose antecedents would show that he had been thrice convicted previously on a similar charge.

Dr. Reid addressed the Court in behalf of the second prisoner, and pointed out that it was most probable that his client was not engaged in the affray at all, and it was most likely he was only implicated in it on account of expostulating in behalf of his brother, who had been engaged in it. The evident reluctance of the police in giving evidence against the prisoners and particularly the second prisoner against whose conduct nothing had been said by the police, would be, he hoped, quite sufficient to obtain a verdict for his client.

Rugonath Megushun deposed, he was a clerk in Mr. Sangster's office, and knew the prisoner Pallonjee. On the night of the assault he was going to get some medicine and saw the disturbance. Framjee was on the top of Pallonjee who was beating the latter. Other men had clubs, but as it was night time he did not recognize them. There was a buggy behind another on the road.

Govind Narayen said, he was a English writer, and was present when the row took place, being a resident of the street where it occurred. He saw Framjee and Pallonjee fighting. A Mussulman came behind Pallonjee and pulled his legs and when he fell down five or six persons rushed upon him, beating him with three or four stricks. Pallonjee called "Sepoy," "Sepoy." Framjee was beating him, when two sepoys came, one saying he would call Mr. Bell, and the other somewhere else, went away again. When witness first came up both Pallonjee and Framjee were fighting.

Other witnesses were called, to corroborate the statements of the witnesses for the defence, whose evidence agreed with the foregoing, in regard to Pallonjee, the prisoner being the party assaulted. The second witness did not know where Pallonjee lived, and said that Mahomedans and Parsees were fighting. Witness admitted that he was a brother of the third prisoner.

This closed the case for the defence.

Mr. Barton replied to the evidence for the defence, at some length, pointing out that their witnesses had not in way controverted the evidence of the witnesses for the prosecution.

His Lordship summed up, and informed the jury that he thought it highly improbable that the prosecutor would have gone to the place to commit an assault, and unless they had a reasonable doubt of the evidence for the prosecution and of the utter unreliability of the evidence for the defence, they would return a verdict accordingly.

The jury having returned a verdict of guilty against the whole of the prisoners on the second count, His Lordship sentenced the first prisoner to rigorous imprisonment for twelve calendar months in the county jail, the second prisoner to nine months, the third prisoner to ten months, and the fourth prisoner to twelve months, telling them if they ever came before his Lordship again, he would certainly send them out of the country.

The Court adjourned at 5-30 P.M.

HIGH COURT.—APPELLATE SIDE.

Wednesday, 25th March 1863.

MURDER.—Oodrya Gun Boher was arraigned before Mr. H. P. Tucker, Session Judge of Tanna, on the following charge, namely, that he on or about the 22nd day of December 1862, at a place called Shinorkhar, in the village of Sirawuch, Talooka Salsett, committed murder by causing the death of Kalee, his wife.

Furkee woman, stated.—She knew the accused. One day in the month of Poush, she and the deceased Kalee set out at sunrise to go to Trombay. They were alone and not accompanied by any one else. When witness and the deceased had got about a mile from a place called Sursoley, the accused came suddenly upon them, and without saying a word struck his wife (the deceased Kalee) with a bill hook. Witness immediately ran away without looking back. She did not hear the accused speak a word. Witness heard Kalee scream out, she heard her continue screaming as she ran away. She did not see any one about at the time. Witness ran straight home and did not meet any one on the road. She found her father-in-law at home, and told him what was happened. It was quite light at the time when the accused assaulted his wife, and witness saw him distinctly and recognised him. Witness went back with her father-in-law to the spot where she had left Kalee, and found her lying dead there. The prisoner was not there. The deceased was lying in a pool of blood and seemed to be wounded in several places, but witness did not go near and examine her. When witness and her father-in-law came near the body they saw a basket and a shoe lying near. The prisoner had a similar basket on his head when he came up and attacked his wife (the deceased Kalee). Witness did not notice the direction from which the prisoner came. The witness and the deceased were going to see the latter's sister who was ill.

Appa Meeya, Patell, affirmed.—One morning in the month of Poush, the deceased Kalee set out from his house at Sarsalay to go to Trombay. She was accompanied by the last witness. They started shortly after sunrise; and in about twelve minutes Furkee (the last witness) came running back and called to witness that "Kalee's husband had stabbed her." Witness at once went back with Furkee to the place where she had left Kalee and found her lying dead at a spot called Shipwarkpar. She had three stabs on the head and some were on the shoulders and was lying in a pool of blood. Witness in his capacity as Police Patell of the village at once caused search to be made for the prisoner but he could not be found. Witness afterwards gave immediate information to the Mamlutdars of Salsette. The accused was apprehended by witness' son at Teerowa, a village about a mile distant from Sarsolay. Deceased lived with her mother since July. She came to her mother's house, because her husband had turned her out of his house. Witness was once asked by the deceased's mother to arbitrate between Kalee and her husband. Witness told the prisoner to take the deceased's back, but he refused. He assigned no reason except that he did not want her.

Jowree, on being sworn, affirmed.—The deceased was her daughter. Witness tried hard to persuade prisoner to take her (Kellee) back, and asked several persons to interfere and bring about an amicable settlement, but he always refused, saying "he did not want a wife." Prisoner also said that the deceased was useless and did not attend to her household work. He did not accuse her of bad conduct.

The Civil Surgeon, F. H. Plumptre, stated.—The accused was a man of a very low order of intellect, but he had seen no signs of insanity since he had been under his charge. Witness considered the prisoner responsible for his actions. In the morning of the 24th December last, witness examined the body of a woman called Kalee, that was sent to the Civil Hospital by the police. He found a deep wound on the right side of the neck, which had divided the large blood vessels and which was quite sufficient to cause death.

The prisoner when called upon to make his defence said, that he did not know how his wife met her death. She was not living with him but had gone to her mother. Prisoner had no witnesses to call.

The following is the Session Judges finding on the evidence.

"The witnesses for the prosecution in this case have given their testimony in a trustworthy manner and their evidence clearly proves that the accused without any grave or sudden provocation, stabbed his wife with a bill hook; in a most deliberate and savage manner; and did thereby cause her death. The verdict 'guilty of murder' returned by the Assessors is, therefore, without question correct. The accused is a man of a low order of intellect, but is perfectly sane and must be held responsible for his actions. Wife murders, of the same barbarous character are of common occurrence in this district, and the Court can see no extenuating circumstance which would justify a compliance with the recommendation to mercy submitted by the Assessors."

The Court concurring with the Assessors finds that Oondrya Gun Bhoeer, is guilty of the offence specified in the charge, namely, that the said Oondrya has committed murder and has thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 302 of Indian Penal Code, and the Court directs that the said prisioner be hanged by the neck till he be dead, subject to the confirmation of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay.

On the above conviction and sentence, an application was made on behalf of the prisoner to the Judges of the High Court, who passed the following resolution:—

RESOLUTION OF THE HIGH COURT.—The sentence of death is confirmed.

BENGAL.

THE promotions and changes in the Quartermaster General's Department consequent upon the action of the five-years order, will occasion several moves amongst the officers in that branch. Captain H. Maxwell, now Deputy Assistant Quartermaster General at the Presidency, in Fort William, is ordered to the Meerut division, and will be succeeded in Calcutta by Captain F. Hall, of H. M.'s 88th, now Deputy Assistant Quartermaster General in the Saugor district.—Englishman, March 18.

BY the ruling of the Supreme Government upon a reference recently made, we note that Chief Commissioners are confirmed in their assumed power to remit portions of sentences passed on prisoners in criminal cases. —Id.

LETTERS lately received from Darjeeling state that disputes have arisen between the old Sikhim Rajah and his son, who is now on the guddee. It appears that the "senior" is anxious to re-occupy his throne, and he has applied to the British authorities for reinstatement. The matter is pending decision, but we must confess to feeling very little interest whether "Geordie sits in Charlie's chair" or vice versa.—Id.

WE learn from the Andamans that the two aborigines who shot one of the Naval Brigade have been captured through the agency of some Malay praos, which occasionally visit the island. The men are at present in the guard-house of the Naval Brigade, but we believe that Colonel Tytler intends to send them to the Presidency to await the pleasure of the Governor General, an attention for which his Excellency will be scarcely grateful.—Id.

WE learn that a corps of one thousand men, recently raised in the Punjab for service under the Ceylon Government, is on the march to Calcutta from Jullunder. The duty of raising this regiment was entrusted to Major Macmullen, of the Indian Army. It consists of five Native Officers, one Serjeant Major, ten Sergeants, ten Corporals, and one thousand rank and file.—Hurkaru, March 18.

WE desire to draw the attention of our readers to a very interesting letter addressed by the Secretary to the Bengal Government by the Secretary of the Agricultural and Horticultural Society of India, and which will be laid before the members of that useful Society at their Meeting this day. The Lieutenant-Governor proposes that an Exhibition of Live Stock, and all kinds of agricultural implements and natural produce should be held on the 18th January next, and remain open for the whole week. For this purpose His Honor very liberally offers the use of the thirty-five acres of land lying to the south of Belvidere, and further promises on the part of the Government to advance the necessary funds for all preliminary operations. We heartily wish success to this movement. No one who has witnessed the marvellous improvements brought about in Great Britain by means of public Exhibitions, will hesitate to thank Mr. Beadon for taking the initiative in introducing them into this country. The very dogs in England have been improved to an almost incredible extent by the emulation thus excited among their breeders and owners. On the principle of similar effects proceeding from similar causes all over the world, we are justified in expecting Mr. Beadon's experiment to bear the best and most abundant fruit, and we earnestly hope that the native gentry will respond in a spirit of equal liberality to His Honor's proposal.—Id.

A PROPOSED EXHIBITION OF AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS AND LIVE STOCK AT CALCUTTA.

FROM THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL,
TO THE SECRETARY AGRICULTURAL AND HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY OF INDIA.
Dated Fort William, the 6th March 1863.

SIR,—The Lieutenant Governor has been led to think that it would tend materially to promote good agriculture in these provinces especially, by drawing the attention of the native zemindars to the subject and enlisting their interest in it, if an Exhibition were to be held next year in the neighbourhood of Calcutta under the general direction of the Government.

2.—His Honor desires me to invite the assistance and co-operation of the Society in framing and carrying out a plan for such an Exhibition, if the project should appear to them likely to be useful. The object of the Exhibition would be to bring together from all parts of the country, for the purpose of show, competition, and eventual scale, cattle and other live stock, agricultural implements, and all kinds of produce.

3.—It is anticipated that an Exhibition of this kind would be self-supporting, and that the expenses of it would be covered by the sale of admission tickets to the public. The Lieutenant Governor would look to the Society to conduct the details of the Exhibition, assisted by the officers of Government and others who may be expected to take an interest in the undertaking, and His Honor is prepared, on the part of the Government, to advance the funds necessary to carry it out.

4.—His Honor desires also to be permitted to place at the Society's disposal, for the purpose of the Exhibition, the grounds adjoining Belvidere on the south, about 35 acres in extent.

5.—In order to give ample time to Exhibitors to prepare for the occasion, the Lieutenant Governor would propose that the Exhibition should take place next January. It will probably be most convenient that it should commence on Monday, the 18th, and terminate on Saturday the 23rd of that month, the public being admitted during the whole week at such rates of payment as may hereafter be fixed. One day should be set apart for the award of prizes to the most successful competitors in the several departments.

6.—The Lieutenant Governor would be glad to receive an early reply to this communication, and to confer personally with the President and any Members of the Society as to the steps proper to be taken to promote the object in view.—I have the honor to be, Sir, your most obedient servant,
E. H. LUSHINGTON,
—Id. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

OOTACAMUND.

THE WEATHER.—Ootacamund has been lately visited with rain, accompanied with lightning and thunder. On the night of Saturday last, the 14th instant, there was a copious downpour, and the sky has since looked threatening. Diarrhœa, and bronchitis, we are informed, are the prevailing diseases. The sources of unhealthfulness which Dr. Rogers has pointed out, are likely to come speedily into operation, and increase the present unsatisfactory state of this settlement. Weeds and plants of all sorts, die out in the frost, but their roots are in the soil, and only require the fructifying influence of rain to spring out afresh, and spread disease and death with renewed vigour. We beg to object to Ootacamund being called a sanitarium. Whatever pretensions it may have had to this character in times gone by, it certainly does not possess them now. Either the residents must be their own municipal body, or a corporation possessing such functions must be appointed. At present it seems to be the principle that every man, woman, and child, must do the best they can for themselves.—Neilgherry Excelsior, March 19.

HOUSE ROOM.—Houses in Ootacamund are fewer in number than can meet the demand for them. Every available residence has been engaged, and orders come pouring in which the local agents find it impossible to meet. People will not build new houses, as the certainty of their occupation is so much a matter of dubtfulness. Tenants are always forthcoming in the season, but during some months of the year, rats and gardeners are the sole occupants. We do not blame capitalists in Ootacamund, for allowing this state of things to continue. If people from the low country will only come up here when the heat drives them from the plains, they must expect the disappointment to which they are doomed. We have before said, (in the Neilgherry Star), and we now repeat, that it is quite a mistake to forego the benefit of the frosty season. Three months frost up here will do more good to scorched up constitutions, than the chilling cold of the rainy months is calculated to impart. A temporal relief appears to be preferred to an advantage of some duration. If visitors will divide their favors so as to be some here in the rainy, and some in the frosty season, there will then be an inducement for erecting more houses. As it is, capitalists will not lay out their money in a speculation doubtful in its returns, from the fashion of making Ootacamund a convenient resort during the heat of the low country.—Id.

NORTH-WEST PROVINCES.

WE hear from Seetapore that a tremendous flight of locusts past over the station on the 15th instant. It appears that the natives had a feed off such portions of them as happened to alight. They do not, however, appear to have done much damage to the crops. They are said to have travelled in the direction of Lucknow, we have heard nothing of them here. It is a matter of complaint with the people of Seetapore, that there is no clergymen there, either Protestant or Roman Catholic. We trust the want will not be permitted to be long felt, as nothing can produce a more demoralizing effect than the continued absence of a clergyman from amongst a large community, the larger portion of which, as at Seetapore, consisting of British soldiers.—Oudh Gazette, March 21.

PUNJAUB.

"THERE is no end of changes in our district arrangements," says a correspondent at Lahore. "Captain Pollock, whose domestic bereavements have been so severe, and with whom we all sympathize most sincerely, leaves immediately for England, and Mr. Robert Egerton, now at Goordaspoor, has been summoned to take his place, as Officiating Commissioner of the Lahore Division. Then we have the hill stations all disposed of; Mr. Fitzpatrick of Umritsur, goes to Dhurmsala; Mr. Elensie, of Lahore, goes to Murree, and Captain Lewin, of Jullundur, takes charge of Dalhousie. Mr. Blyth moves from Jhung to Gogaira, and rumour has it that our Judge of the Small Cause Court will be the new Deputy at Goordaspoor." Still further changes are said to be in contemplation.—Delhi Gazette, March 21.

HOW THE LITTLE WAR IN JYNTIA GOES ON.

(From the Dacca News, March 14.)

THE Friend of India calls our expedition against the rebel Jyntias a little war and little it is in one sense. But we are apt to despise little things till they become great and demand our serious attention. Because the Jyntia revolt of three years ago occasioned by the imposition of the house-tax, was quelled without trouble, the Government thought to treat the present out-break with indifference, until the obstinate hostility of our hill-subjects threatened to give encouragement to the numerous other semi-savage tribes that line our Eastern frontier. The expedition under Colonel Dunsford now in the field, is giving our hill neighbours the first real taste they have had at our hands, of the discomforts of warfare, and we are glad that as the lesson is being very energetically enforced, so it is likely to be remembered. Up to the time when the Government ordered the native artillery stationed at Decca to take the field, we wondered why it had not occurred to the authorities that a mountain train battery would do more service in knocking about the rebel stockades than any amount of musketry-fire administered at the hands of native infantry. It was argued by some that it would be impossible to move about guns in those hills with anything like the rapidity required to bring so volatile a foe as we had to deal with, to their senses. But to us it appeared that a mountain train battery, if it was ever to be of any use, must be of use in the mountains, and that the hills of our North Eastern frontier were not more impracticable in this respect than the mountains of the Punjab frontier. At length the military authorities awoke to a conviction of the necessity for artillery if the Jyntias were to be brought to reason within a reasonable time, and Captain Cordner, commanding the Battery at Dacca, was ordered to proceed to the hills. Colonel Dunsford is a gallant officer and a skilful commander, and above all, he is not a man to let the grass grow under his feet. Much of the success of the present campaign is owing to the good sense of his arrangements and the energy with which they have been carried out; still, we feel sure, that were it not for the essential aid that has been rendered by the Artillery, the prospects of peace would not have been so close as it is. As an illustration of the use to which Captain Cordner's Battery has been put, as well as of the gallant and enduring spirit with which Colonel Dunsford's troops do the trying work alloted to them, we have great pleasure in publishing the subjoined letter with which we have been favored. It gives the latest news respecting Colonel Dunsford's operations, and is dated the 24th February:—

Surtiung is a stockaded village situated on a hill which lies in a valley between two ranges of mountains distant about 12 miles from Satoonga.

The position is naturally very strong, the whole hill being studded with large masses of rock and completely covered with tree jungle. The only two paths to the village were stockaded, one in six different places, the other in two. As the rebels occupied this in considerable force, Colonel Dunsford, C.B., arranged to attack them on the 23rd instant. For this purpose the Artillery were ordered out from Jowai, a portion of the 21st P. I., under Major Thelwall, C.B., from Satoonga, and detachments of the 28th P. I., 44th Regiment, 1st Police Battalion, and Cossyah Police.

The force encamped within 300 yards of the first stockade on the evening of the 21st. On the morning of the 22nd the guns opened fire from camp, apparently with good effect; after a short time one gun was taken up close to the first stockade and discharged several rounds of grape into it, and the surrounding jungle.

Four columns, three of which had taken up their positions during the night, then attacked from different directions. That laid by Major Thelwall, C.B., first reached the village, having stormed six stockades in succession. This was the only column which met with vigorous opposition. The 44th under Captain Lloyd, and the Cossyah Police under Captain Morton, burnt the other two stockades, but were not opposed by the enemy. Large stores of grain have been found, ten rebels are known to have been killed, including the village "Dolloi" and his son, and many prisoners have been taken. Our loss is seven (7) men wounded, non severely; no officers touched.

The effect on the enemy has been such, that two stockaded villages were taken and burnt yesterday, (23rd instant), without the slightest opposition. In fact the great energy displayed by Colonel Dunsford, C.B., and Captain Morton, is rapidly bringing the country into order. The Cossyah Police under Captain Worsley act against their countrymen with the greatest zeal, and everything proceeds as successfully as could be desired.

There are still some stockades in the neighbourhood of Satoonga; after these have been taken, it is expected that the whole of the rebels in the districts of Satoonga, Nongklei, Romboi, and Norso will return to their allegiance. Should our hopes be realized, the only rebels which will remain to be disposed of, will be those of the districts of Munsoo and Nongfloot, and the war party of the villages of Jowai, Jallong, and Barato.

These, it is believed, have taken to the country to the north of the Mundriang river. It may be found necessary, with the sanction of Government to pursue these into the independent "Mikar" country, where it is said they have erected stockades.

HENRY, MARQUIS OF LANSDOWNE.

BORN JULY 2, 1780; DIED JANUARY 31, 1863.

(From Punch.)

Low lies the gray head that had borne so well
  Its weight of years and honour from far days
  That seem as alien to our blame or praise
As days whereof books only live to tell.

How one by one Time's tooth eats through the chain
  Whose links unite our lives to that gray past!
  A Golden link was this, that parted last,
Leaving a void, not to be filled again.

He stepped into the Senate from the school
  As great men's sons did in his early day,
  Putting the College exercise away,
To take the helm of empire and the rue.

He knew the great ones, that loom yet more great
  To us through mists of time; he spoke the grief
  Of England o'er the tomb of her sea-chief,
Who crowned at Trafalgar his fame and fate.

He fought with Pitt, he served with Fox; he shared
  The struggles of a fiercer time than ours,
  When party severed chiefs and sundered powers
By gulfs, set thick with sharp hates, barbed and bared.

Thence passed he to the calmer times we know,
  Calmer by dint of all that such as he
  Have won, from victory to Victory
Passing, with measured steps, secure and slow.

Leaving no fort half-ta'en, post half-secured;
  Wherever they passed, turning old foes to friends;
  So reaching to still larger loftier ends,
That vantage ne'er was gained, but it endured.

He knew to sweeten strife, by gentle port,
  Fair speech, kind judgment even of his foes,—
  By tolerance, from trust in truth that flows,
By breeding, that nor asks nor payeth court.

By the wide teaching that makes rude men tame,
  By letters and amenities of art,
  Whose grace infiltrates to a nation's heart,
And rounds the angles of a country's frame.

Such were the gracious influences brought
  To bear by him and those with whom he stood;
  For love of all things noble, fai, and good,
Ran in his veins, and like an instinct wrought.

Not his the bookworm's passion for dead books,
  The connoisseur's mole-eye that gathers light,
  Groping in ways where common eyes find night,
But on God's work-day world turns blanked looks.

Where he loved books he loved their writers too,
  From the great art of bygone days he learned
  To prize the living art, which he discerned,
In days when critic-cant denied its due.

Even in the heat of party-strife he kept
  That gentler mood which calm o'er conflict brings,
  As oil o'er stormy waves spreads smoothing rings,
Till side by side old feuds and passions slept.

And when life's evening came, 'twas grit about
  With trust and reverence and troops of friends;
  The young loved this old man, who, on the ends
Of life and great affairs, yet sought them out.

And gave them kindly greeting, counsel, aid,
  Yet not as some that stoops from high to low,
  But as a friend 'mong friends beloved to know,
With whom we feel ashamed not, nor afraid.

And so passed slow and softly to its end,
  Serene and summer-still, his long-drawn day.
  While England mourns a Nestor past away,
How many, high and low, lament a friend!

"Observing that whenever this unfortunate case is brought before the public, the story of the cruel uncle who held the bond of his nephew, the Hon. Major Yelverton, for money lent, with the view of preventing his marriage until the bond was paid, is treated as though it were a fact, I, being the uncle alluded to, beg to be allowed to state that this story is altogether a fabrication. To the best of my recollection, I never lent Major Yelverton any money—not even a small occasional sum. What could really be the object of getting up such a story I am at a loss to divine; but it surely makes one conclusion certain—namely, that marriage must have been a subject of continued discussion between the parties; else, why concoct this excuse for a secret one? Indeed, the turning point of the whole of this melancholy drama seems to revolve on the question of a secret marriage, the question whether the marriage should be public or private being made to depend on the procuring a certain sum of money for some particular purpose—in all probability to meet Major Yelverton's pressing liabilities. The case is now, however, coming before the vast public of London for the first time in responsible form, and will, no doubt, be widely discussed in all its bearings."

ARTHUR HENRY HALLAM.*

(From the London Review, Jan. 24.)

So singular a story belongs to this book, that the task of judging it is unusually difficult. Arthur Hallam had, in his father's prefatory words, "the happiness to possess the friendship of one, then as young as himself, whose name has risen to the highest place among our living poets. What the distinguished person felt for one so early torn from him has been displayed in those beautiful poems entitled 'In Memoriam.'" The most remarkable monument which Genius ever raised to Friendship has for many years rendered all who love English poetry familiar with the lofty expectations raised amongst those who knew him best by a young Cambridge man who died at two-and-twenty. In a hundred stanzas his friend has expressed the conviction that our loss in Arthur Hallam was one which a country, rich as England in great and fertile minds, might reasonably reckon a national misfortune. This is, indeed, to rate a man highly; and when we turn from the testimony of love given by Tennyson, supported though it be by much other concurrent assurance, to the slender "Remains" of the youthful student, it is impossible to free the mind from a perplexity of opposing feelings. Might not this be an instance of the well-known idealization of genius and affection? Did the promise, if found to exist, honestly carry with it the pledge of so great a fulfilment? May we, indeed, ever safely commit ourselves to such prophecy? We think that a careful reader of the book will find no difficulty in deciding that the verdict of Hallam's friends is strictly proven.

We will presently endeavour to confirm this by examples, premising that in framing our estimate our aim has been to judge the writer solely by the contents of the volume now published. It is by this that the world is now affected, and by this only will the world be able to test the validity of "In Memoriam." Yet it must not be concealed that several pieces in verse and prose have been omitted, which would have added further force to the conviction of the writer's sure destiny to greatness. These pieces were kept back in former years by a natural reserve. All reasons for this having now passed, it must be regretted that the collection should not have been now made complete: we shall hope that a new edition will afford opportunity for supplying omissions, and for the rectification of some careless misprints which the issue of 1863 presents when compared with that of 1834.

Arthur Hallam is one of the very rare examples of the direct hereditary transmission of high mental power. It is impossible not to judge him more or less by reference to that honoured father who, by a fate happier, perhaps, for us than for himself, was spared for more than thirty years after Arthur's death to enrich our literature by that admirable "History of Intellect," which might alone have occupied the lifetime of an industrious student. To the elder Hallam's vast range and clear command of reading the son added a depth of poetical insight a certain kindred sensitiveness for the high things of art, which, in the author of the "Constitutional and Literary Histories," were compensated by that calm yet fervent justice of judgment—that "one weight and one measure" which, as Macaulay observed, we can hardly look for elsewhere with success. Years might—in all probability would—have brought this quality of the philosophic mind to Arthur Hallam. As we perceive him in the writings of his marvellous boyhood—amorous of the beautiful, passionate for the ideally high and truthful—we are rather reminded of the opinion expressed by one of his most intimate friends, that we lost "in Vienna's fatal walls" might have been a second—perhaps a greater—Edmund Burke.

That this partial judgment of friendship bore no remote relation to the promise of the man, these pages seem amply to testify. The poetry alone would have placed him securely among the "inheritors of unfulfilled renown," from its varied felicity in subject and treatment, from its powerful yet subtle strain of reflection, above all, from the sweetness and intense truth with which it expresses the natural affections. Yet it does not seem to do such full justice to the author's capacity as the Essays: it does not perhaps carry with it the conviction that the final triumph of his career would have been in verse. The intensely receptive character of the boy's mind is shown in the reflected lights which, without imitation or plagiarism, colour his stanzas: Wordsworth, Dante, the Elizabethan poets, latterly his college friend Tennyson,—we trace these favourites successively in many pleasing lines. The following stanzas, written on the banks of the Tay (probably before the end of Hallam's twentieth year), are a characteristic specimen:—

> "I saw a child upon a Highland moor,
>   Playing with heath-flowers in her gamesome mood,
> And singing snatches wild of Gaelic lore,
>   That thrilled like witch-notes my susceptive blood.
> I spake a Southern word, but not the more
>   Did she regard or move from where she stood.
> It seemed the business of her life to play
> With euphrasies and blue-bells day by day."

The poet's first wish is "to grow with her and like her," to be her comrade and her brother "dreaming how to play a child once more with her:"—

> "Then a stern knowledge woke along my soul,
>   And sudden I was sadly made aware,
> That childish joy is now a folded scroll,
>   And new ordainments have their several fair;
> When evening lights press the ripe greening knoll,
>   True heart will never wish the morning there;
> Where arched boughs enlace the golden light,
> Did ever poet pray for franchised sight?
> "When we were children, we did sigh to reach
>   The eminence of a man; yet in our thought,
> And in the prattled fancies of our speech,
>   It was a baby man we fashioned out;
> And now that childhood seems the only leech
>   For all the heartaches of a rough world caught;
> Sooth is, we wish to be a twofold thing,
> And keep our present self to watch within."

With the exquisitely delicate fancy of the last stanza compare the lines in which, after describing a summer's day in Italy with some fair companion, and how he talked of Wordsworth, and she chilled him by the show of less than his own enthusiasm, he felt the truth—

> "That different halts, in Life's sad pilgrimage,
>   With different minstrels charm the journeying soul;"

that only after trial of the world, when the heart grows dry, and the brain—

> "Fevers with cogitations void of love,
> It is a blessed God-given aid to list
> Some master's voice, speaking from out those depths
> Of reason that do border on the source
> Of pure emotion and of generous act.
> It may be that this motive swayed in me;
> And thinking so that day I prayed that she
> Whose face, like an unruffled mountain tarn,
> Smiled on me till its innocent joy grew mine,
> Might ne'er experience any change of mood
> So dearly bought by griefs habitual."

We think that the great Singer of Rydal would have welcomed in the author of these lines, so evenly balanced between pensiveness and tenderness, a nature already largely endowed with his own most valued attributes.

It is, however, rather in the extraordinary scope at once of thought and of reading—in the equable justice and modesty of judgment—in the lucid expression and pregnant originality of phrase which the Essays present, that we may more adequately trace the great gifts of the lost friend, "the sound of the voice that is still." These little papers were written at an age which, to most of us, rarely yields anything that we can look at—if we can look at it at all—in after life without a smile of astonishment. Yet in fulness and sweetness, in their penetration and their poetry of feeling, we may fairly set them in excellence beside those by which Shelley has almost doubled the impression of his genius. The essay on sympathy displays the strong impulse, noticed by Hallam's friends, to subtle searching-out of the hidden springs of the human heart. It is in itself clearly due to that peculiar direction in psychology, of which Mackintosh was in 1830 the most distinguished English representative. One cannot but feel that a larger induction from facts—that a closer reference to the physiological side of the subject is wanting to this delicate metaphysic of morality; yet the fine inquisition into the recesses of our nature here presented has a value which in our hazy sensationalist age we are far too disposed to overlook. In the "Oration on the Influence of Italian Works of Imagination," the eloquent style adopted obscures, at a first glance, by its inevitable generality, the marvellous grasp of accurate detail which underlies and verifies the large lines and bold masses of the sketch. A somewhat similar subject is dealt with more minutely in the masterly review of Professor Rossetti's now forgotten Carbonari paradoxes on Dante. It is not too much to say that this paper is one of the very best reviews in the language; so luminous in its criticism, so refined in its humour, so penetrating in its poetical insight. Everywhere also in this, and in the similarly able essay on Cicero, we see the copiousness of the young writer's information, and the energy of his intellect diverging into the wider questions suggested by his immediate theme, and marking out the avenues of thought, as it were, which he was destined never to investigate. The following specimens taken from his writings will perhaps, best illustrate his vein of thought. Speaking of the influence of the Italian romantic love poetry, he says:—

"I cannot help considering the sonnets of Shakespeare as a sort of homage to the genius of Christian Europe, necessarily exacted, although voluntarily paid, before he was allowed to take in hand the sceptre of his endless dominion.

* * * * *

"The number of pure artists is small: few souls are so finely tempered as to preserve the delicacy of meditative feeling untainted by the allurements of accidental suggestion. The voice of the critical conscience is still and small, like that of the moral: it cannot entirely be stifled where it has been heard, but it may be disobeyed. Temptations are never wanting; some immediate and temporary effect can be produced at less expense of inward exertion than the high and more ideal effect which art demands; it is much easier to pander the ordinary and often recurring wish for excitement than to promote the rare and difficult intuition of beauty.

"The world is full of coincidences that mean nothing. To find design in everything is as great madness as to find it not at all. . . .

"It would be a prize of inestimable value to a philosopher if we possessed any monument of the religion of the ancients. Their mythology we know. Their philosophy we know. But of their religion we are entirely ignorant. The class of believers at Rome or Athens was not the class of authors. The reverential Theism of Plato and Cicero was a sentiment much fainter than that which must have agitated a true believer in the golden-haired Apollo, or the trident-shaking ruler of stormy seas. The recluses of Isis and Cybele must have felt many of the same passions which ruffle the indifferent calm of a modern convent. What a pity that we cannot compare the forms assumed by the feelings of those idolatrous Polytheists, with those presented in the present day by Roman Catholic populations! We might find, perhaps, the same prayer breathed before a crucifix which had been uttered ages before beside the solitary fire of Vesta; the same doubts started the same struggles made, the same noble extravagance of human self-devotion, the same sad declension of human frailty!" . . . .

Passages such as these seem to rival in power the youthful precocity of Keats or Shelley: they tell us that the loss which his friend has immortalized was a grave one indeed. It has been poetical justice in the strict sense that one so gifted should be mourned so deeply. "In Memoriam" is justified before the tribunal of Pure Reason, even by the slender "Remains of Arthur Hallam."

A NEW WORK.
LIGHTS AND SHADES OF THE EAST.
DEDICATED TO THE HONORABLE SIR BARTLE FRERE, K.C.B., GOVERNOR OF BOMBAY.

LIGHTS AND SHADES OF THE EAST, by FRAMJEE BOMANJEE (late of the E. College):—This Work, is nearly of the size of Dr. Russell's "Diary in India," 400 pages or upwards, 8vo. and nearly cloth-bound, is now being printed at the Alliance Press, Bombay, and will be out about the close of next month. The MS. has been looked over, with a view to judge of its merits, by more than one well-known English scholar, and been pronounced as the result of "a great deal of thought," &c. It is an earnest exposition of the Native character in its social, moral, and intellectual aspects, which as yet has been felt a desideratum, and in which, while treating of the feil and career of BABOO HARRICHUNDER, the late Editor of the Hindoo Patriot—to whose memory Natives of all parts of India, and even Englishmen of rank and position at Calcutta, have resolved on erecting a monument, the Author analyses the sources of his success, traces how far these are wanting among the majority of the rising generation of India, and points out how the character of the young Indian Student may be completely formed and ameliarated. He next discusses the best means of regenerating the mass of the people; and then passes to a dissertation on "Civilisation," with a view to show that the future Civilisation of the World will take its rise from Indian soil.
With a view to give the most general idea of the Work, the principal heads of the contents are published and may be seen at any of our Libraries.
The price of each copy of the book will be either Four or Five Rupees.
Subscribers names will be entered at either Messrs. CHESSON & WOODHALL'S Fort, or ATMARAM SAGOON & Co.'s, Kalbadavie

ADVANTAGES OFFERED BY THIS SOCIETY.

THE profits are declared in each year, on the second Wednesday in May, from and after which date all persons assured for the whole term of life on the participating scale, and od whose Policies six complete annual or twelve complete half yearly original premiums have been paid, are entitled to participate in the profits of succeeding years in either of the modes provided by the Deed of Settlement, viz., either by a reduction of the annual or half-yearly premiums for the current year as they fall due, or an equivalent addition to the sum assured by way of a bonus. Each assurer, on his first becoming entitled to participate in the profits, has the option of selecting either of the foregoing methods, and three months from the date of declaration of the profits is allowed for his making that selection, which, however, when once determined on, cannot be altered in after years.

2.—One fifth of the ascertained profits of the five past years is divided between the Policyholders and Shareholders—three-fourths to the former, and one-fourth to the latter; the remaining four-fifths are set apart to enter into the average to be struck on the next succeeding year.

3.—The following table will show the operation of the reduction allowed by the division of profits for 1861 which is equivalent to 45 per cent. on the current annual premium of all Policies entitled to participation:—

Age next birth-day when Policy was issued.	Date of Policy previous to the 2nd Wednesday in May.	Sum assured.	Original Premium.	Reduction.			Annual Premium Payable after deduction.
		Co.'s Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	a.	p.	Rs.	a.	p.
20	May 1857	10,000	420	189	0	0	231	0	0
30	"	10,000	480	216	0	0	264	0	0
40	"	10,000	590	265	8	0	324	8	0
50	"	10,000	740	333	0	0	407	0	0
60	"	10,000	1,030	463	8	0	566	8	0

4.—From the foregoing explanations it will be seen that the benefits arising from a participation in the profits are actually experienced (when a reduction of the premium is selected) at the periods when the seventh annual, or thirteenth and fourteenth half-yearly premiums fall due. In the case, however, of a Bonus to the sum assured being selected, an equivalent sum will be added to the policy for the current year, being such an amount as the reduction in the premium would purchase as a single payment.

5.—Separate tables for assurances without participation in profits, both Civil and Military, have been adopted for the whole of Life at reduced rates, for such persons as may prefer a lower rate of premium to participation in the general profits.

6.—The Directors have recently determined on permitting the issue of Policies in India for the whole term of Life on the non-participating scale, on the principle of receiving the premiums monthly, these Policies however, are to be granted on certain conditions, viz., that on the first issue of the Policy six months premium shall be paid in advance, and thenceforth monthly, and that in the event of persons assured returning to Europe, the monthly payments will cease, and the premium be payable at the English rates in advance yearly. And although the Board will allow 28 days grace on Policies paying monthly premiums, yet it is to be clearly understood that if those days of grace be exceeded, the Policy will be absolutely forfeited, and cannot be renewed under any circumstances whatever. It is also determined that in no case will an assurance be granted beyond the age of 60.

7.—In all cases of reduction to the English rates, the Policies are to be subject to all the regulations and conditions affecting English Policies.

8.—When application is made for assuring a life subject to more than ordinary hazard, an augmented premium will be charged proportionate to the increased risk, the rate of which will be regulated by the strictest attention to justice between he Society and the Assured, according to circumstances.

9.—On the return of persons (whose lives have been insured at Indian rates) to Europe, either for a temporary or permanent residence, and without reference to the state of health, they will be entitled to have their future premium reduced to the English rates, corresponding with the age at which the Assurance was first effected, after they shall have given at the Head Office in London notice in writing of their arrival, and such reduction shall commence with the payment of the first Premium, which shall become due next after the receipt of such written notice. Their Policies must be forwarded to the Office, to receive an endorsement, prohibiting their departure from Europe without the previous written consent of the Directors, and all such Assurances will be void if the parties whose lives have been assured shall go beyond the limits of Europe unless the said permission shall have been first obtained, and such premium paid, as in the opinion of the Directors will correspond with the extra risk incurred. In the case of participating Policies, the profits are allowed on the English rate of Premium whereas Indian assurers can continue their Policies in England on most favorable terms. Parties assured in Rupees in India, who may determine on paying their future Premiums in England, will be required to pay them at the fixed rate of exchange of 2s. per Rupee; and in the event of such Assurance becoming a claim payable in England, the sum assured will be paid at the same fixed rate of exchange of 2s. per Rupee.

10.—When parties assured at the Indian rates return to England, they are required to give notice in writing of their arrival, at the office in London, and in no case will their Premiums be reduced to the English rates until they next fall due after the receipt of such written notice.

11.—The parent Institution being in London, with a similar establishment in Calcutta for granting Policies, Premiums, as well as claims, are payable in either country at the option of the Policy holder. The appointment of Sub-committees at Madras and Bombay with power to grant Policies, affords similar facilities to persons residing at either of the sister Presidencies.

12. All Policies becoming claims on the Society, will be discharged within three months after satisfactory proof of the death and cause of death of the assured shall have been furnished to the Directors either in London or Calcutta.

13.—The Directors of the Indian Branch of the Society are empowered to treat for the purchase of Policies, for the whole term of life on which premium shall have been paid for a period of not less than six years, or to advance, if required, on such Policies, by way of Loan, two-thirds of the estimated value.

14.—Medical Referees are remunerated by the Society, by a fee of Sixteen Rupees on proposals for assurance not under Co.'s Rs. 2,500:—but for any less sum the fee to be settled by the Applicant.

15.—Tables, Blank Forms, and other particulars requisite to enable persons to effect assurances, may be had on application to the Agents.

The rates of Premium on Term Policies, and Assurances for the whole of life without participation, are now reduced, by order of the London Board, Twenty per cent., and will be found below those of any other office in India.

For Assurance for the whole Term of Life with participation in the profits of the Society, the rates remain unaltered, but the reduction after the expiration of six years has hitherto amounted upon an average to Fifty per cent. upon the original charges and the success of the Universal leads the Directors to hope that the prospective results will be still more satisfactory.
